

Overview

Internship Opportunity with Bellwether International

About the Internship:

Bellwether International is excited to offer a dynamic internship opportunity for students and young professionals passionate about human rights and genocide prevention. During this internship, participants will contribute to research projects and program coordination while gaining valuable professional experience with an international NGO.

Our Mission:

We are dedicated to breaking cycles of genocide and creating genocide-resistant societies through policy development and education

Internship Details:

- Duration: Minimum of 8 weeks, with the option to earn academic credit.
- Location: Remote, with intermittent opportunities for day trips to New York.
- Project Scope: Interns will engage in ongoing projects across Nigeria and Iraq, supporting genocide response and prevention efforts.
- Supervision: Interns will work closely with project managers actively involved in fieldwork and policy initiatives.

Key Responsibilities:

- Assist in research and policy development on genocide prevention.
- Support program coordination and logistical planning.
- Engage in educational initiatives and advocacy campaigns.
- Collaborate with a diverse team of professionals working on international projects.

Benefits of the Internship:

- Hands-on experience in an international NGO setting.
- Networking opportunities with experts in the field.
- Professional development through mentorship and real-world engagement.
- Contribution to meaningful projects with global impact.

For more information and application details, please contact: miriam@bellwetherngo.org